

2 MARCH 2007

New Postings to www.sheepusa.org

Producers who were unable to attend the 2007 American Sheep Industry Association (ASI) convention in San Antonio in January can now obtain the information that was discussed during the workshops and meetings. The presentations that were used by the many speakers during the convention are posted to the ASI Web site, www.sheepusa.org.

Also now available on the site is the online educational course "A Producers Guide to Scrapie." The one-hour course is designed to be a learning tool for producers to gather information about scrapie as well as to be used as a reference tool - a sort of one-stop shopping for everything a producer wants to know about scrapie and its eradication.
